HuntMountain Resources Appoints Tim Hunt as President

(SPOKANE, Wash.) The Board of Directors of HuntMountain Resources Ltd (OTCBB: HNTM) has appointed Mr. Tim Hunt to resume the position of company President. Jim Sabala is leaving to pursue other employment opportunities.

Stated Mr. Hunt, Chairman and CEO, "I have every confidence that our management team will continue to execute our business plan in 2008 and beyond. The strategy includes aggressive exploration programs on gold/silver properties in North and South America with our focus on the prolific Deseado Massif region in Santa Cruz, Argentina, where our exploration team has over 25 years of experience."

The La Josefina gold-silver project is an advanced stage exploration property consisting of a 528 square-kilometer area located near the center of the Deseado Massif region of Patagonia in Santa Cruz province, Argentina. The property encompasses a zone of epithermal alteration and mineralization one to three kilometers wide and more than ten kilometers in length. The Deseado Massif is an emerging epithermal mineral region with abundant precious metal occurrences. The region currently hosts three producing mines, several deposits being readied for production, and a growing number of projects in advanced stages of exploration.

HuntMountain Resources is a U.S.-based junior exploration company engaged in acquiring, exploring and developing precious and base metals properties throughout North and South America.
